

Amy Riggle
August 8, 2017

AIM - NAMIBIA

Monthly Report - July 2018

The month of July was an exciting, yet unfortunate month. In the first couple weeks, I was able to visit the orphanage again and learn more about the kids who live there as well as tutor them on their English. I was also able to make a deeper connection with both the junior and senior youth groups. I believe progress is important! I also believe the best is yet to come for those great young people and I can't wait to see how God moves in each of their lives!

In the latter weeks of July, I became very ill. I woke up at 1am on a Sunday morning with extreme pain and swelling in my lymph nodes. After two doctors, a specialist, and many tests (all without answers), my parents decided it was best for me to return home to seek better medical care. While coming home to be treated and get the proper rest with many loved ones to take care of me has been nice, I look forward to my soon return to Namibia. I still have a burden for the people there and I wholeheartedly believe that my work there has only just begun!