

Greetings from New Zealand

January Recap

Wow, It is hard to believe that a portion of 2018 has already passed us by. God has continued to show His hand of provision in my life as I've stepped out of my comfort zone to serve his kingdom and purpose in the nation of New Zealand. Last year I began the process of applying for a visa and a couple weeks into the new year I received word that the application had been approved. This new visa will allow me to stay in the nation until January 2019. So thankful for a God that opens doors and guides my every step! I was graced with a visit from my mother in January. This was a tremendous blessing, since when I said goodbye back in September we only thought it would be for a couple months. The visit gave me a boost of encouragement from home.

With this new approval I have been able to take a more active role in planning and involvement for upcoming events throughout 2018. We see God preparing this nation for a tremendous outpouring beyond anything that has been experienced before. We have new bible studies starting and have had numerous visitors in these first Sundays of the year. Just this past Sunday the entire family I am boarding with, husband, wife, and all five kids, attended service with me! They enjoyed service and I'm believing God for a great move in this family.

We are also believing God to see tremendous growth in our young people this year! I've had the privilege of working with the UPCI NZ Youth Division team and we will be starting new programs that will challenge and grow the youth. This investment in the youth today will be a catalyst for even greater growth and revival in the years to come.

Powerful move of God during our first service of the new year!

Grace Fellowship is thrilled to have Bro. & Sis. Nawasa back from Fiji!

Thankful for quality time with my mom.
