

AIM Report

March and April 2019

Christa Sarra

March 1 – 7

Continuing discipleship with our church members has shown to be fruitful! They have already begun witnessing to their friends and family about the love of Jesus Christ. As the seasons change, we are noticing a shift with our evangelistic outreaches. More people are out of their houses enjoying the sunshine. We are expecting new avenues and methods of evangelism this coming spring.

March 8 – 14

Recently, we have connected more with our Russian teacher. She speaks little English, but we are able to communicate in a broken mix of Russian and English. She recently has made us national dumplings from her home country and has promised to teach us how to make traditional Kazak cuisine. Also, after trying for months to become part of Ventspils Augskola campus ministry, we finally have an inroad. This has allowed us to meet many college students from all over Europe and the Middle East. It is a field that is white for harvest!

March 15 – 24

Connecting with as many contacts as possible was a theme for the month of March. Also, showing North America the testimonies of what God has done the last several months in Ventspils, Latvia was a priority as well. Promo videos were shot with several Latvians and deeper connections to contacts were formed. I was also fortunate to be able to return to North America to spend several weeks with my family before I continue my AIM extension for a year.

April 16 – 30

I left my heart in Latvia while I visited my family. Being back took some readjusting. But this past two weeks I have been able to look at this field with more appreciation and passion. Summer is almost here and we have been able to connect with many more people. The culture in Ventspils becomes vibrant when it is warm. Our church members are almost finished with discipleship and we are excited to bring them with us while evangelizing during these warmer months. I am excited to see the harvest that the month of May brings!
