Hello from Slovakia,

This trip has been so packed with opportunities that it's hard to find a place to start. The beginning, like all beginnings was slow but didn't last for long. Before I knew it I was already helping out with the ladies bible studies that are held in Michalovce, Slovakia every Tuesday and Friday and we always have at least six each meeting. These were great times of getting to know the ladies of the church and just being a godly person that they could bounce ideas and concerns off of. Like "what do I do when going to a wedding that is a Roman Catholic wedding? Do I drink the wine and dance or what am i supposed to do?” We are allowed to stick to our beliefs just as much as they do to theirs— is the simple version from what I answered to one of the ladies in the meeting. I was with them for about three weeks.

Six countries in less than a week!

We set off for Budapest on Tuesday, May 21st to pick up the Priesslers who are old ABI friends of Bro. Tir. The stories they told of each other, we all laughed so hard we were all crying! We spent a rainy but adventurous Wednesday in downtown Budapest and then set off on our next adventure to the Serbian border! God was truly with us because we got through both borders in less than 30 minutes (a record I am told).

The Priesslers, the Tirs and myself taught and spoke at two different Bible Schools in Serbia, one was in Backi Petrovac Friday night and then in Padina that Saturday morning. We also all ministered in different ways in the services that finished out the weekend.

The crazy Monday of May 27th was one for the books! We left Serbia around 3pm, got through the border swiftly (another miracle) arrived in Budapest to drop off the Priesslers, and drove back to Kosice, Slovakia arriving at 11:45pm. Three countries in one day! Then I had my quick adventure back home to Texas, going through another three countries, to witness my first nephews first Birthday, so thankful for the flexibility of the Tirs!

The quick trip home was just the energy boost needed to come back and hit the ground running for preparations for the Centennial Celebration happening this coming weekend of June 14th-16th! Excitement for this, has been building up for over a hundred years... 😊

Always, thank you for this opportunity to serve in ministry in so many different ways.

Be Brilliant,

Kirstie Chrestman.
